THOMAS WOODWARD CHAPTER OF D. A. R. MEETS

Mrs. K. R. McMaster and Mrs. S. W. Heath were hostesses to the Thomas Woodward chapter of the D. A. R. at its December meeting on last Friday afternoon. Miss Sue Doty presided in the absence of the regent, Mrs. F. A. DesPortes. Roll call was answered with quotations on Christmas. A description of an old fashioned Christmas from Irving's Sketch Book was read by Mrs. D. V. Walker. Several musical selections, which were greatly enjoyed, were given by Mrs. Walker and Miss Alice Walker. The guests of the chapter were: Mesdames G. A. Johnstone, Julian Lipscomb, Miss Lucy Doty, Miss Louise Steimer and Miss Caroline Guise, of Dawson, Ga. A delicious salad course with coffee and whipped cream was served.

COTTON GINNED TO DEC. FIRST.

There were 6,473 bales of cotton, counting round as half bales, ginned in Fairfield county, from the crop of 1922 prior to December 1, 1922, as compared with 9,858 bales ginned to December 1, 1921.

Davis, Jr. Mrs. S. E. Lyles, Misses Alice Walker and Louise Steimer were invited in for refreshments. A salad course, coffee and salted nuts were served.

METHODIST BAZAAR WAS A SUCCESS

The ladies of the Methodist church gave their Christmas bazaar on last Thursday afternoon and evening in the Community House. The hall was prettily decorated in Christmas evergreens, Christmas bells and miniature Christmas trees decorated in colored electric lights. There were booths of attractive fancy work, dolls, cakes and candles. Throughout the afternoon tempting lunches and suppers were served. Deep appreciation is felt by the ladies for the patronage they received. Quite a nice sum was realized.

CHRISTMAS PAGEANT AT LEBANON

Come to a christian pageant in the Christmas holidays. Everybody is specially invited to come to the pageant.

A TRIBUTE TO MRS. CLARA GLENN

Our entire community was saddened Saturday night, December 16th, when the message went out that the Death Angel had visited us and had taken away with him one of our choicest and best beloved women, Mrs. Clara Glenn, widow of the late D. L. Glenn, Sr.

Mrs. Glenn was born September 30th, 1854, the daughter of William Yarborough and Elizabeth James Yarborough. She was married November 15th, 1871, to D. L. Glenn, Sr., who preceded her to the grave less than a year ago, they having lived happily together for a little more than fifty years.

The funeral services were conducted at the home by her pastor, Rev. J. P. Isenhower, and interment made in the nearby family burying ground, beside her husband and a little daughter, who died in infancy. She is survived by the following children: Messrs. W. T. Glenn, of the Jenkinsvills neighborhood, and J. M. Glenn, Henry Glenn and Gladney Glenn and Mrs. J. C. McMeekin, Mrs. Vivian Jeter and Miss Kitty Glenn and also one step-son, D. L. Glenn, all of Wallaceville. Three brothers, Rev. J. H. Yarborough, of Chester, and Messrs. W. B. Yarborough, Sr., and B. H. Yarborough, and one sister, Mrs. Kate McDowell, all of Jenkinsville, also survive.

In the services, Mr. Isenhower made the remark that a Christian life never dies. Then indeed, will her influence live through out the eternal ages to bless mankind. She was ever gentle, loving and kind. Not one, either white or black, ever went to her for help or sympathy and came away without feeling the spirit of true devoted Christian love, which ruled her heart and life. Since early womanhood she had been a consistent member of the Baptist church. In her death her church has lost one of its most loyal steadfast members, our community one of its best and sweetest women, and her friends and relatives one whose place can never be filled, and one whose memory will always be as sweet smelling incense, to purify and gladden the hearts of each one who knew and loved her.

High Praise Given by Expert on Quality of Poultry at Chesterfield Fair.

Clemson College.—That South Carolina poultrymen are making rapid strides in breeding high-quality poultry has been well illustrated at the various poultry shows and fairs this year, and one of the best of these illustrations was the Rhode Island Red show by the recent Chesterfield fair. The poultry show was judged by W. H. Cord, of Manchester, Conn., a noted authority who praised the show very highly. Here is what Judge Cord said about the Reds:

"This show ranks with Boston and with New York. It is better than Syracuse, and I doubt if there is another county in the United States that has as many Reds as fine in color, shape and size."

"Everybody is anxious at the present time to know where to buy breeding stock, hatching eggs and baby chicks," says N. R. Mehrhof, extension poultry husbandman, in commenting on Judge Cord's statement. "The beginners and the experienced poultry-raisers are making plans for the coming year, and each one who hopes to be successful should buy only from reliable breeders, for to be successful we must start right."

"But it is not necessary for South Carolinians to go out of the state for good poultry stock, as is proved by Judge Cord's testimony about our Reds. The same is true of other breeds. We have good stock in many counties. The extension service is in position to put all who desire foundation stock, eggs or chicks in touch with our own breeders."

Calcium Arsenate Purchased by Bank.

Newberry.—The Exchange bank has bought a carload, 20 tons, of calcium arsenate and will have it shipped to Newberry and put in warehouse for the use of farmers on next year's cotton crop in fighting the boll weevil. The bank does this not to make money, for it does not intend to make a cent by it; but it believes the calcium arsenate is going to be scarce and high next year and is getting this much in hand for the use of the farmers. Numbers of farmers in the county have said that they would have made much larger crops this year but for the fact that they run out of calcium arsenate at the last time or two it should have been applied and were not able to get more.

Wanting Tax Reform.

Greenville.—Plans for a conference of business men from all parts of the state and representing all lines of industry and commerce, to be held here at an early date for discussion of ways and means of effecting a revision of the taxation program of the state, were launched by the board of directors of the Greenville Chamber of Commerce. A commission was appointed to take charge of the movements. It is planned to hold the conference some time this month in order that a definite program for tax reform may be worked out and put under way before or during the forthcoming session of the South Carolina general assembly.

Automobile Men Headed by Gibbs.

Spartanburg.—The South Carolina Automotive Trades association, in annual session here, elected the following officers to serve for the ensuing year: President, Frank H. Gibbs, of Columbia; first vice-president, Eugene Smith, Greenville; second vice-president, J. S. Stevens, Charleston. A secretary was not elected. The board of directors is composed of the following: Sam Atkinson, of Greenville; W. P. Sloan, of Anderson; J. J. Adams, of Laurens; C. G. Roland, of Sumter; J. G. Anderson, of Rock Hill. Several short addresses on appropriate subjects were made before the gathering, which held only one session.

Potato Market Badly Depressed.

Florence.—B. S. Meeks, of the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad company, and T. B. Young, president and general manager of the South Carolina Sweet potato association, and Mrs. T. B. Young, have returned to Florence after a ten days' visit in the markets of New York.

They report having found the sweet potato market in perhaps the poorest condition that it has been for a number of years. They found a great quantity of surplus sweet potatoes, particularly on the New York market, where they were being freely offered at 50 cents a bushel hamper, with no sales resulting. They say one dealer showed them a large lot of sweet potatoes in bushel packages, for which he was trying to get 50 cents. These potatoes were of very good quality and well graded. They found the eastern shore of Virginia sweet potatoes on the markets being sold as low as $1.25 per barrel delivered in New York city.

Mother and Son Receive Sentence.

Greenville.—Mother and son stood together before the bar of justice in the county court house when Mrs. S. E. Hartin and Lee Roy Hartin were sentenced by Judge F. M. Ansel to serve sentences of a year each without the alternative of a fine for violation of the prohibition law. The son was convicted in one case and pleaded guilty in another. The mother pleaded guilty in two cases and was sentenced to serve four months and eight months in the penitentiary.

THE CHILD OF BETHLEHEM.

(By Kate P. Flenniken, Winnsboro.)

The world for Thee no place or welcome had prepared,
Thy lowly manger bed the wondering cattle shared,
Yet, Heaven's celestial choir announced Thy humble birth,
And angels ushered in the reign of "Peace on earth."

The wise men came, forewarned, the promised Christ to see,
Led by the guiding star, they found and worshipped Thee—
Unknown, unsought, forgot, mid poverty obscure,
Thy unobtrusive youth to manhood grew mature.

None saw in Thee, despised, the long expected King,
No royal robe, no crown, no sceptre, didst Thou bring;
The hungry multitudes Thy wondrous bounty fed,
And yet earth had for Thee no place to lay Thy head;

Thy healing fingers touched the dim and sightless eye,
Thy ear, responsive, heard the trembling sinner's cry,
And when the toiling crew, in sinking, called to Thee,
Thy voice rebuked the winds, and stilled the raging sea.

Forsaken by Thy friends, by treacherous foes betrayed,
In robes of mockery Thy bleeding form arrayed;
Fainting beneath Thy cross, the wild mob jeering Thee,
From Pilate's judgment hall, led out to Calvary.

Oh, heartless world! The time is surely drawing near
When thy rejected King triumphant shall appear;
Then clothed with clouds He'll come, and every eye shall see,
And every tongue confess His glorious majesty.
